

WOMEN OF THE CITY ARE TIRELESS IN THEIR EFFORTS TO GIVE HELP AND COMFORT TO THE SOLDIER BOYS

By DOROTHY B. JOHNSTON.

CO-WORKERS

By JANE McLEAN.

THIS is not the age when women slackers are allowed to camouflage behind personal agrarianism in the Red Cross and other patriotic organizations. On the contrary, America's women are going down in history, with their names and deeds enrolled side by side with their sisters of France and Belgium and England and many other lands, for their prodigality in time and work and money that is all pouring into one common allied goal—relief of suffering humanity. Even our hospital earnings and surgical dressings and knitted garments in the making are handled with a gentle touch of sacredness these days—no knowing to whom they will go nor what they will do when they are sent to comfort—the maker is only confident in the hope that somewhere her bit will help make the fight the easier and life while it lasts, the dearer. Her own boy may benefit—who knows? The faculty of any other than a feeling of duty or of unbounded sympathy is evident.

Long ago, El Paso Red Cross was "placed on the map" when Mrs. Horace W. Broadbent became "right hand man" to that invincible head of the organization, Dr. W. L. Brown, and took hold of the bureau of supplies. Mrs. D. Bruce Smith, Mrs. W. W. Turner, Mrs. L. E. Stewart, Mrs. Dan T. White, Mrs. C. E. Kelly, Mrs. F. C. Searle, Miss Mary Gates Redmond, Mrs. H. E. Stevenson, Mrs. J. H. Nations, Mrs. J. E. Williams and scores of others got behind the movement and carried it on without cessation, the summer through. No days were too hot to keep the entrance ways from collecting and dusting and making. And when autumn came, all the winter's work was mapped out with system, and is now being carried on with dispatch. Mrs. Broadbent is assisted in the sewing by Mrs. J. E. Williams, in knitting by Mrs. J. E. Stewart, and in surgical dressings by Mrs. D. Bruce Smith. Each of these matrons, in turn, has chosen a helper for various days—Mrs. Robert W. McAfee sewing for Mondays; Mrs. E. Kelly, Tuesdays; Mrs. W. W. Turner, Wednesdays; Mrs. H. E. Stevenson, Thursdays and Mrs. J. H. Nations, Fridays. The headquarters for the fourth floor of the White House are closed Saturdays.

By HAZEL ALLEN.

HERE is to be a big event in music at the high school next Tuesday morning during assembly hour, beginning at 9:30. Francis Russell, instructor of music for the school, has arranged to assemble all the school orchestras of the city and give a demonstration of the progress being made by the pupils. The affair will be open to the public and it is expected that a large number of people will attend in addition to the high school pupils. Mr. Russell has organized orchestras in almost all the elementary schools and has a splendid one in the high school.

At assembly Thursday, the Glee Club sang "Somewhere in France" and the high school orchestra gave two demonstrations for the benefit of the pupils.

El Paso Girls Are Guests Of Officers Of Army At Dinners

Following the football game at the high school stadium, Wednesday, the galaxy of charming society girls who sponsored the 15th field artillery, were entertained at dinner at Hotel Paso del Norte, by a number of the officers of the regiment.

The decorations were quite as lovely as the gala surrounding the banquet board, spread in the private dining room of the popular hotel, with quantities of pink rose buds showered down the center of the table, softly illuminated in shaded candelabra. Covers were marked for Miss Valerie Led, Miss Arta Williams (daughter of the colonel of the regiment), Miss Mary Gates Redmond, Miss Alice Myles, Miss Sarah Bridgman, Miss Kathleen Newhouse of Philadelphia, Miss Mary White, Miss Katherine Platt, Miss Helen Stratton, Miss Elizabeth Brown, Miss Arnes Stewart, Miss Nellie May Bowen, Capt. and Mrs. Alexander M. Weyand, Lieut. J. E. Linder, Capt. and Mrs. H. L. Miller, Lieut. John V. Palmer, Lieut. Hugh Barclay, Lieut. P. C. Black, Lieut. William B. Smith, Lieut. W. B. Stenhouse, Lieut. John H. Gibson, Lieut. J. Barksdale Stevens, Lieut. P. I. Lister, Lieut. D. O. Langstaff and Lieut. W. E. Gee, and Lieut. John R. Stratton.

The N. B. girls sponsored the 15th field artillery—Miss Barbara Orendorf, Miss Mary Caples, Miss Frances Earle, Miss Marian Calman, Miss Frances Oppenheimer and Miss Anne Maguffin. This attractive party were guests at a delightful post-war dinner-dance held in the Hotel Sheldon, with officers of their regiment hosts. During the afternoon, the girls carried football muffs bearing the standard of their sponsorship—red and a bewitching picture they made.

Officers of the Fort Bliss post are entertaining a number of the French officers—a dashing, splendid lot of young men—who are furnishing ample proof for admiration. The latter are not dashing, however, while their country is plunged so deep in the war.
